The events sequence in the Kohana application Bootstrap.php Start output buffering, Set autoloader and error Adding some constants handlers, adding some Loading core classes: utf8, Event & Kohana system event callback, hooks loading Kohana::setup() Kohana_Loading Environment_Setup Buffering on Callback adding for routing, execute, 404 and shutdown events Include hooks First available system event, free of system callbacks system.ready Preparing URI to find controller, defining routing segments System_Initialization system.routing URI has been analyzed, it's Router::find_uri() a last chance to manually change the routing Router::setup() Creating the instance of system.post_routing controller and executing its method system.execute Name of the controller is already known but has not Kohana::instance() Controller_Setup yet been created Total_Execution system.pre_controller Creating of Router-calculated controller The controller set up, but his method was not executed instance system.post_controller_constructor Controller completes the Controller_Execution work Execute the controller method system.post_controller Before the framework shutdown The event before sending system.shutdown headers (cookies and the session still available for writing) Kohana::shutdown() Clear output buffer Event before printing the system.send_headers generated output Session::write_close() Additional events system.display system.404 *Profiler::render() Page not found *Expires::prevent_output() system.redirect Before headers sending by Kohana::render() url::redirect() system.log Formed the log message in Kohana::log()